

STEM INSPIRATION

Dr. Joanne Waldstreicher

Chief Medical Officer
Johnson & Johnson

Pursuing your dream begins here.

Who inspired you?

"From a young age, my father instilled in me a love of science and a desire to make a difference in the world. My father was a baker and a food scientist. His scientific and innovative approach inspired me to pursue a career that uses science to improve people's lives around the world by developing innovative medicines for serious diseases."

Education
